

Acknowledgements

The editors of this volume, Bioethics in a Plural World: Contemporary Challenges in Medical and Technological Ethics, would like to thank all those who contributed to the successful completion of this scholarly endeavour.

Heartfelt gratitude is extended to His Holiness Moran Mar Baselios Marthoma Mathews III, Supreme Head of Malankara Orthodox Syrian Church (Indian Orthodox Church), for graciously accepting the invitation to release this volume on 27 April 2026 at the Catholicate Palace, Devalokam, Kottayam, India. This marks a significant milestone as one of the first initiatives of its kind within the Orthodox Christian community in India.

Sincere appreciation is expressed to His Grace Geevarghese Mar Coorilose, Metropolitan of the Diocese of Bombay, Malankara Orthodox Syrian Church, the principal sponsor of this event. His Grace's generous support, encouragement, and willingness to endorse this initiative were instrumental in enabling the realisation and scholarly execution of this academic gathering.

Wholehearted gratitude is extended to Fr. Dr. K. M. George, Director-Sopana Orthodox Academy, whose guidance and facilitation have been pivotal in the release of this volume.

The DE'THRI Foundation, as the organising body and a key academic facilitator of the conference, has played a central role in shaping this initiative. Its commitment to advancing research in bioethics, philosophy, and theology, along with its sustained efforts to convene diverse scholarly voices and foster meaningful interdisciplinary dialogue, has been integral to both the conference and the present volume. Special appreciation is due to the leadership and coordinators of DE'THRI Foundation for their dedication and meticulous planning in bringing together scholars from diverse disciplines and international contexts.

Acknowledgement is made of the support and collaboration of the Dr. Mar Theophilus Institute of Management Studies, Navi Mumbai, which hosted the conference on 16 and 17 May 2025 and provided an excellent academic environment for thoughtful engagement and scholarly exchange.

A special mention and thanks are extended to Dr. John Punnoose for his initial efforts in connecting scholars in this field.

This volume has been enriched by the contributions of distinguished speakers, scholars, and practitioners who addressed a wide spectrum of bioethical issues. Special thanks are extended to Dr. Bobby George, Dr. Meena Kumar, Dr. Chandra Viswanathan, Dr. Priyanka Harshavardhan Vora, Dr. Dhananjaya Saranath, Dr. Shailaja Gada Saxena, Dr. Yashashri Shetty, Dr. Vergis Paul, Dr. Roopa Verghese, Dr. K. B. Bali, Dr. Olinda Timms, Dr. Vijay Aruldas, Prof. Dr. Maria K. Chorianopoulou, Ms. Argyro Marinopoulou, Dr. Vasudeva Upadhyaya K. S., Prof. Dr. Petros Panagiotopoulos, Rev. Fr. Dr. Alexander M. Isaac, Prof. Dr. Brian Butcher, Mrs. Sherin Sujith Varghese, and Mr. Sujith Varghese George, among others. Their scholarly insights—spanning clinical ethics, reproductive technologies, artificial intelligence, religious perspectives, and institutional bioethical practices—constitute the intellectual foundation of this publication.

Gratitude is extended to Prof. Dr. Ioannis Ladas, who undertook the demanding responsibility of editing this volume despite his extensive academic commitments. His scholarly rigour, commitment, and careful editorial oversight have been invaluable in bringing this work to completion.

Sincere gratitude is also extended to Prof. Dr. Evangelos D. Protopapadakis, whose timely guidance and support have been instrumental in fostering the academic collaboration with the University of Athens. Without his encouragement and intervention, this important international partnership would not have materialised.

Appreciation is further extended to the moderators, panellists, and organising team for their dedicated efforts in ensuring the smooth conduct of the conference sessions, especially Rev. Fr. Thomas K. Chacko, Rev. Fr. Abraham Joseph, Dr. Susan Varghese, Dr. Nithya Varghese, Mr. Febin Varghese, Mr. Abraham Esho, and Mr. Sujith Sam Abraham.

Finally, thanks are extended to all participants, contributors, and well-wishers whose engagement and support have enriched both the conference and these proceedings. It is hoped that this volume will contribute meaningfully to ongoing discussions in bioethics, both within India and internationally.